

The Whole Picture

It has taken some little time to gather this which is why I have been rather quiet recently.

There is good news to report and some not quite so pleasant.

The major item of good news is that a group of senior US military have decided that an order to attack Iran will not be carried out. This is not a security leak but something rather different.

All decisions are registered in the Quantum Fields. Those with a large importance are very loud and easy to hear. Amongst the advanced techniques in Quantum Marketing are the ways in which information can be gleaned from the quantum fields. I am very pleased to note that 1 CIA and 2 FBI agents have recently purchased Quantum Marketing. Pleased because such techniques cannot be used by the self proclaimed "Illuminati" (means superior human) as their extremely hierarchical structure is incompatible with the way in which Quantum Marketing works, i.e. we can use it, they can't. It is also very nice to have much of what I have gleaned from the quantum fields confirmed in more conventional ways.

I have previously mentioned that the way in which a serial killer usually gets caught but a one-off doesn't is that he/she repeats their method. We have seen this method prepared for 9/11. We have seen it prepared for 7th July in London. We now see exactly the same method being repeated for 16th October 2007 in Portland, Oregon.

The way to stop it is with glaring publicity. Not as easy as it should be as all the major press has been owned by the banking cartel for decades. This is why you don't see the truth (about 9/11 for example) being shown there. There are other ways. Get this info around to everyone you can think of. Print it out and distribute it on the streets. Forward the pdfs to all your contacts. If everyone is looking at Portland on Tuesday and asking what's going to happen, then very probably nothing will happen; the exercise will be called off. It will take some time to organise an alternative venue. Again this gives us time to act but, even if Cheney does manage to kill more thousands next Tuesday all is not lost. We are still very, very much more powerful than our opponent.

The hereditary dictator of this planet has been forced to act more and more openly over the last few years. So much so that, despite his skills, he has become visible not only in the Quantum fields but traces of his handiwork are appearing elsewhere. Secrecy is essential to him. He no longer has it. We are now able to act directly to disempower him. By we, I mean you and I, all of us. This is how he works and how to neutralise him:

It is he (and his forebears) who have given to us a world view of lack, insecurity and strife. It is he who has indoctrinated us with the belief that such things not only exist (in reality they cannot) but are also unavoidable. He has painted us an image of a world which does not exist. We can choose to disbelieve it. This will not only completely disempower him, it will also immediately release the pent up energy of the oncoming breakout of human consciousness from suffering into abundance and universal awareness. He will be sidelined, impotent and irrelevant.

Let me suggest to you a different image. How would it be for you if everyone could do the work which they really wanted to do? How would it be if work was about fulfilling yourself and had nothing at all to do with survival? How would it be if human consciousness regained and expanded such a powerful conscious connection and unity with nature that never again could such a thing as food shortage exist? How would it be if what you needed to live was brought to you so that you would be free to carry out the much more important task of learning creation? Take this image into your heart. Feel it. Could this be you? Is this how you want yourself and everyone else to be? Then let it be. Hold it in your heart. Let yourself and everyone else feel it and it will come to pass; there is no stopping it for we, all of us together in unity, are the real rulers of this planet.

You don't need fire-power to stop the insane. Your heart is much, much more than enough. You merely have to want your dream enough to let it be and it will replace your nightmare.

Blessed be eternally.
