

The Universal Panacea

Many of those who follow my profession (to be a professional, incidentally, means to know and to teach; it does not mean to get paid for it - mostly, I don't) have, at some point in their lives, considered the possibility of finding the "universal panacea". This, for those who have not previously heard the term, is the semi-mythical substance which cures all ills.

Despite endless references to it in all folk lore right around the World (so far as I have been able to ascertain) there is not the slightest shred of real evidence that it ever actually existed. Further, most of the surviving tales about it concern not the obtaining and usage of it but warnings about the dangers of abusing it!

In conventional science there exists no theory, postulate or fact which would support a proposal that such a thing were possible nor explain how it could work.

Nonetheless, it is a tantalising concept and the dream of finding it has also not left me untouched.

Throughout the 1990's I made many attempts to find a basis upon which a universal panacea could function as well as ways of applying it. Although this study did bear fruit in discovering many simple, quick, easy and, above all very cheap methods of removing a great many of mankind's ills, the single "cure all" remained as elusive as the Yeti. Many of the "side benefits" of the attempts to find the universal panacea are freely available on the websites listed on the last page of this document.

It must now be almost a decade since I gave any thought to the cure all but, deep in my subconscious, the jig saw puzzle had been assembled and was merely awaiting the last piece. This arrived on my desk just 8 days ago.

I had previously heard from many sources about the evil conspiracy called Codex Alimentarius. It was no accident but a most carefully designed plan that Codex be perceived as a vague and unlikely threat until it was too late. It was only when I watched Dr. Laibow and checked up on the facts which she presented that I realised just how close we are to being forced, world wide, into a Nazi style regime identical in origin and objective to that which - by deception; not by popular vote - took over Germany in the 1930's. You can get a lot of the basic information here:

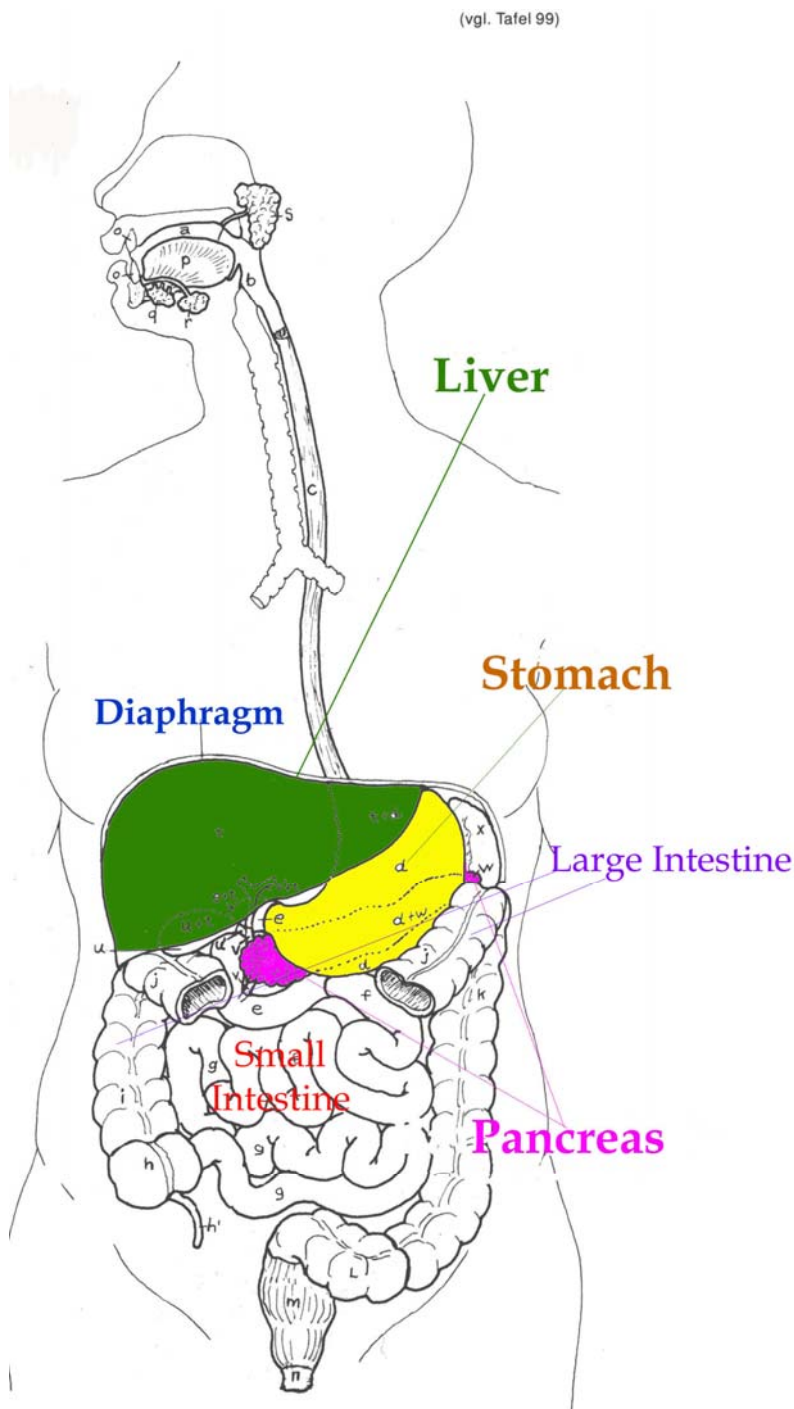

<http://video.google.com/videoplay?docid=-5266884912495233634>

<http://www.healthfreedomusa.org/>

By Saturday of last week, the question was burning within me, "How can we make their plan powerless?" What I was looking for was a way to instantly get rid of the poisons they want to pump into us before they can do any harm and to get the essential nutrients that they want to deny us in a way which they could never even hinder let alone stop. And then it hit me. This IS the Universal Panacea and Quantum Field Theory explains exactly how it works. The most amazing thing is how easy it is to use for, you see, you already have it; you just didn't know how to "switch it on".

Your large intestine (also called colon) runs around the periphery of your entire abdomen. Here is a sketch showing exactly where it is:

The movement through the large intestine is from the lower right, up and across the upper abdomen and down your left side to the exit.

More important than this, however, is the fact that, inside the intestines are millions of tiny finger-like projections into the fluid flowing through the intestines. These serve to increase the inner surface area of the intestines by some hundreds of times and so absorb much more nutrients as well as discharging certain wastes from the blood into the stool.

Now, in order for these finger-like projections (called cilia) to project themselves into the inside of the intestines, the Laws of Motion require that there be an equal and opposite projection going outwards. Physically, there clearly is not. Classical biophysics, therefore, states that the cilia cannot exist! Quantum physics disagrees. Which one is describing the real world?

Quantum physics has no problem whatsoever in accepting that an "equal and opposite force" required by the Laws of Motion does not need to be coalesced into matter. The Cilia can push themselves into the hollow core of the intestines by making use of an equal energy force going in the opposite direction. This force field has even been photographed with special cameras such as Kirlian Photography.

This force can be directly controlled by human will and a number of "secret" properties and abilities switched on.

Tomorrow, we will see exactly how to do this.

Blessed be.

Karma Singh
London
16th May 2008

<http://www.cancer-so-what.com>

<http://www.non-smokercelebration.com>

<http://www.543bookshop.com>

<http://www.thedoortoyourself.com>

<http://www.quantummarketing.com>